In addition to the features listed above, LABM also regularly includes council/housing association case studies and special reports covering the latest building standards and industry issues. We also feature news, views and opinions from across the public sector and social/affordable housing market.

Articles commissioned for LABM must be exclusive to us in respect to competitor titles. Images must be at least 300dpi and large in format. We prefer project shots, step-by-step installation images and before and after photography to accompany articles. We reserve the right to omit articles that do not meet our editorial guidelines.
